Dear The Federal Communications Commission,

I do not want to pay more for my telephone service! I urge you to reject a flat fee proposal that would change how contributions are made to the Universal Service Fund.

Under the flat fee proposal you are considering, people who make few long distance calls would pay the same as people or businesses that make many calls. In other words, low-volume and primarily residential customers would bear the same universal service fund burden as a high-volume residential or business customers. This is an unfair loading of tax responsibility on those who can least afford it!

I use my wireless phone rarely, for safety, security, and emergencies. I don't want to lose these benefits so that businesses can pay less than their fair share. I urge you to reject the proposal to move the USF collection system to a flat-fee.

Please consider usage fees that are based on usage, not flat rates that overload those least able to afford them.

Sincerely,

Jim Dillon
